ALFRED FORD, SR. AND THERESA ALLRED FORD

Alfred Ford Sr. was born November 4, 1860, at Mosquito Creek, Iowa, son of Martin Ford and Zibiah Meriba Stoker. He married Theresa Allred on November 23, 1882, at Wallsburg.

Alfred cleared land of brush and homesteaded his farm. He was a carpenter by trade, also a farmer and stock raiser. He died October 25, 1939.

When but a small boy they came to Utah with the pioneers, when Alfred was two years old. They settled in Provo and lived there a few years. When Alfred was 10 8 Tyears old they moved to Wallsburg, where he helped his father and brothers clear willows and sagebrush from land for their farm, and herd the cattle and horses. One year they had to burn pricklypears spines off to keep their cattle and horses alive. When he was 22 years old he married Theresa Allred, on November 23, 1882, at Wallsburg. He cleared land of brush and made himself a very nice farm. He did a lot of logging in the canyon. He got logs and had some saved to make him a home. He was a carpenter by trade. He raised sugar beets, hay and grain, and owned cattle and horses. He was a big, strong, healthy man, weighing over 200 pounds. He was kind and willing to help everyone. He was a very good foot racer, never being beat in a race but once. They were blessed with a family of five children: Alfred Jr., Lawrence, Jennie, Melbourn and Lloyd. He passed away on October 23, 1939, in Provo. His body was laid to rest in Wallsburg Cemetery. He owned the first Ford car in Wallsburg, and was happiest when hard at work.
